How to find out who owns a google voice number

Forgetting your mobile phone number is an all too common occurrence, and the same can happen if you have a Google Voice number. Luckily, it's very easy nowadays to perform a Google Voice number lookup if you encounter this problem. However, if you want to perform a reverse Google Voice number lookup, that's a different story. You might be wondering, is it possible to trace an unknown Google Voice number back to its owner? Is there a way to find someone's Google Voice number? We answer those questions and show you how to find your own Google Voice number in this handy guide. If you live in the US, you get to select your number. You can do all the basics with your Google Voice number: send and receive texts, make domestic and international calls, and send and receive voicemails. In addition, Google Voice also lets you read voicemail transcripts, customize voicemail greetings, and block spam callers, among others. And the great news is that, if you live in the US or Canada, calls using your Google Voice number are almost always free. Download Google Voice on Android Download Google Voice on iOS How to Look Up Your Own Google Voice Number on Android or iOS Photo by Google LLC from the Google Play Store To find your own Google Voice number using a phone or a tablet, follow these easy steps: Launch the Google Voice app on your tablet or phone. Tap on the Menu icon (the three parallel, horizontal lines at the top left) and then on the Settings option. Under Account, you'll see your Google Voice number. If you can't find your Google Voice number even after following these steps, it might be that Google Voice isn't set up for the account you're using. In that case, you can do any of the following: If you're using a different account with Google Voice, switch to that account by proceeding with these steps: Tap on your profile icon at the top right corner of the screen. Select the account that you wish to use. If you haven't linked Google Voice with your account yet, select "Get a Google Voice number." If you have a work or school Google account that you wish to link to Google Voice, you'll need to reach out to your administrator. How to Look Up Your Own Google Voice Number Using a Computer Screenshot from Google Voice You can also lookup your own Google Voice number using your computer. To do so, simply follow these steps: Launch your web browser, and head over to voice.google.com. Click on the Sign In button in the top right corner. Then, type in your Google account credentials. Click on Settings (the gear icon) in the top right corner. Under Account, you'll see your Google Voice number. If you don't see a Google Voice number under "Account," the account you're using probably isn't linked to Google Voice. To remedy that, you can do any of the following: If you've set up a different Google account for Google Voice, switch to that account by following these steps: On your web browser, head over to voice.google.com Click on the Sign In button, and log in using your Google account credentials. Click on the Next button. To link a personal account to Google Voice, select Choose. To link a work or school account to Google Voice, you'll have to reach out to your administrator. Finding Your Username or Email Address Screenshot from the Google Voice Username Help Page It might also be the case that you know your Google Voice number but you can't remember your Google Voice username or email address. Not to worry, because Google lets you easily retrieve that information. Here's a step-by-step guide on how you can look up your Google Voice username or email address: Head over to the Google Voice Username Help Page. Type in your Google Voice number in the input field. Then, select submit. Follow the instructions you see on your screen. Google will then send your Google Voice information to the email linked to your Google Voice number. Reverse Google Voice Number Lookup Looking up your own Google Voice number seems easy enough, but what if you want to perform a Google Voice number lookup on someone else? Or is it possible to look up a person's Google Voice username or email? We answer those questions in the following section. Can You Trace a Google Voice Number? Photo from Google Voice Google Voice numbers aren't publicly listed or linked to the owner's physical address; they're only connected to an online account. Thus, you won't find them in print or online phone books, making them generally difficult to trace. When one of your contacts calls you using Google Voice, you'll see their name on your caller ID. However, if an unknown Google Voice number calls you, you won't be able to identify them using standard phone traces. That said, you can perform a Google Voice Number lookup on another person. If a person lists their Google Voice number on a social networking site, blog, or web forum, their number can be traced back to them via a simple Google search. Therefore, if you want your Google Voice number to be hard to trace, avoid publicly posting it anywhere online. Also, don't give it out to someone you don't know. What if an unknown Google Voice number scammed you or has been harassing you? In such cases, it's best to have law enforcement authorities involved as they will have the means to trace the number. Google can fish out the caller's account information, placed calls, and the IP address they used to create their Google Voice account and give it to the authorities. In addition, Google also suspends their Google Voice account. Can You Trace a Google Voice Number to an Email? A person's Google Voice email shares the same level of traceability as their Google Voice number. While you can retrieve your username or email using your Google Voice number, you can't use someone's Google Voice number to find out their email or username. That's because, just like with Google Voice numbers, emails or usernames linked to the online telephone service aren't publicly listed. So, unless the person publicly shares it on their website or somewhere else online, you can't trace a person's Gmail from their Google Voice number. Final Thoughts It's fairly simple to perform a Google Voice number lookup if you've forgotten yours. All it takes is a few taps, a couple of minutes, and you're good to go! However, the same can't be said with performing a reverse Google Voice number lookup or tracing a Google Voice number to an email. That's because those data aren't publicly listed, unlike with traditional landline numbers. That said, as we discussed above, it isn't entirely impossible to look up a Google Voice number or email if you need to. Hopefully, this guide has helped you find your Google Voice number and give you an insight into tracing someone else's Google Voice number. Have you tried tracing a caller through their Google Voice number or finding someone's Google Voice number? If you have, feel free to share your insights and experiences in the comments! Unknown calls are super frustrating, not only from anonymous users but people keep getting these calls from scammers and marketing companies. At some point, we all have received calls from Unknown Google Voice Numbers, and you must have been curious to know who the person is. Of course, there is a chance the caller must be one of your friends, but the chances of them being a scammer are slightly higher. Before you respond to these calls, it's important to find out their real identity and go through the background information. As we all know, Google Voice is a voice over Internet protocol (VoIP) phone service that enables users to make and receive calls, voice, and text messages. Most people use this number to redirect incoming calls to their personal numbers, office numbers, or landline. When users sign up for Google Voice, they are given a free virtual phone number within their area code. It also allows you to select your personal favorite number and for that, you can use the Google Voice Number Availability tool to check whether your desired number is available for registration or not. This number is very similar to the SIM card number. The only difference is that the service is absolutely free to use, while some features, like call recording, are only available with paid accounts. Since the Google Voice number is registered with your Google account, the platform does not publicly list your number, email address, and personal information to maintain privacy, and that's why it does not appear in phone books or on online websites that list phone numbers. Now the question is, how can you find out the real identity of the Google Voice Number owner without asking them? or how to find an Email Address Associated with Google Voice Number. Well, you can use the Google Voice Number Lookup by iStaunch tool to find out people's real identities for free. The tool would ask you to enter the Google Voice number of that person and then show you matching results. The results include vital and factual information such as real name, social media accounts, alternative phone number, location, and other details. Sound's good? Just check it out. Google Voice Number Lookup Google Voice Number Lookup by iStaunch is a free tool that lets you find who owns a Google Voice number and provides details such as name, email address, country, and much more. All you have to do is open the Google Voice Number Lookup by iStaunch on your Android or iPhone device. Enter the number and tap on the Submit button. That's it, next you see the real identity of the Google Voice number holder. Important Note: Since Google does not publicly list users' Google Voice numbers or their personal information, it's nearly impossible to find who owns the number. However, if someone posts their Google Voice number on their social media account, website, blog, or forum then this tool may be able to find out the identity and background of the person. How to Perform Google Voice Number Lookup? As mentioned earlier, the Google Voice Number lookup tool is designed to make it easier for users to disclose the identity of an unknown mobile number. It features a simple-to-use interface that speeds up your search. Submit the Google Voice number from where you are getting calls in the Google Voice Number lookup tool. It will disclose the name of the user you are searching for. How to Find Google Voice Number Head to the Google Voice website on your Android or iPhone device.
